DONATING COMPUTERS

Community Computers is a small charity that accepts computers donated by local authorities, businesses and individuals who would prefer to see them reused in the community rather than disposed of into landfill sites. We can only refurbish computers for reuse if they are in a reasonable condition and of a minimum specification.

New computers can become outdated very quickly as technology moves on. Schools require minimum specifications to run educational software. Therefore it is important that you telephone us to confirm if your computer is suitable for reuse.

If we are unable to REFURBISH your old computer, then we have to RECYCLE it as Electronic Waste.

To do this, your old computer has to be broken down into Plastic, Metal, and Glass for recycling. This costs us the same charges that are made to commercial organisations. We now have to pass on these costs and make a small charge to either recycle or refurbish any electronic waste on your behalf.

We believe that anyone who has genuine concern for our environment will be happy to pay a small charge to have their electronic waste legally disposed of by Community Computers.

Thank you for your support.
